

MORPHEUS RISING

PURVEYORS OF GREAT BRITISH ROCK TO THE WORLD'S DISCERNING FANS SINCE 2008

Formed back in 2008, Morpheus Rising has forged a reputation for lively stage shows and powerful melodic music, playing headline and support shows up and down the country.

A five piece, twin guitar band in the classic mould of British Heavy Rock with a touch of Prog, Goth, Thrash and the US metal/rock scene thrown in. The New Wave of British Heavy Metal dragged kicking and screaming into the new millennium. NWoBHM The Next Generation!?

With a distinctive style heavily informed by bands such as Thin Lizzy, Iron Maiden and Alter Bridge, Morpheus Rising produce an energetic show which will keep the old guard happy and show the new generation how it's done. Central to the band's sound is the classic twin guitar partnership coupled with Simon Wright's dynamic and powerful, classic rock vocal. From the anthemnic NWoBHM rock of Lord of the North, to the lighter Those Who Watch, this is a band who will not disappoint.

The band's first album, Let The Sleeper Awake was released in late 2011 and the band toured across the UK in 2012. The critically acclaimed album was regularly featured by Johnny Doom on Kerrang Radio, Shane Carlson on ARfm, Tony Corner on Firebrand Radio, and elsewhere. Features in Classic Rock Prog, Classic Rock Society magazine and cover mount CDs led to sales across Europe, Asia and North America.

2013 saw the band touring with Panic Room on their Summer tour and the first line up change in two years with ex Saxon and Oliver Dawson Saxon drummer Nigel Durham joining the band full time.

In August 2013 the band signed to Melodic Revolution Records in the USA, ahead of the band's second studio release, EXIMIUS HUMANUS, which was financed through a Kickstarter crowdfunding campaign and released in February 2014
